GENERAL INFORMATION.

The VALPARAISO MALE AND FEMALE COLLEGE, under the patronage of the North-Western Indiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, opened its first term September 21st, 1859, in a two-story frame building erected to be used until permanent buildings should be reared.

The number of Students has constantly increased, and thus far marked success has attended the enterprise.

The location is in the suburbs of Valparaiso, forty miles east of Chicago, on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad.

A beautiful brick edifice, forty-eight feet wide by sixty-eight feet long, three stories high, is now being erected, and will be completed by the opening of the next term. It is surrounded by a Campus of five acres on which stands a natural grove. The grounds will be regularly laid out and divided, so as to give half for the use of each of the sexes. Standing on a high eminence, and commanding a beautiful view of lakes, groves and prairies, for many miles in every direction, as well as a prospect of the entire town, the location is thought to surpass in beauty and sublimity any other in the West.

The government is mild, seeking always to convince the judgment and appeal to the self-respect of the governed; but prompt in suppressing disorder, and punishing improper conduct.— Habitual idleness, or persistent disregard for the rules, will be held as sufficient cause for dismissal, and in either case parents or guardians will be immediately informed, and the removal of the Student required.

Students are held responsible for their deportment at all times and in all places while connected with the Institution.

There is a flourishing Literary Society, The Philomatheon, connected with the College, composed of Students of both sexes.

Arrangements have been made for a complete set of Chemical, Philosophical and Astronomical Apparatus, and a full supply of Maps and Charts, to be ready by the opening of next term. We have a small Library, and the nucleus of a Geological Cabinet, to both of which additions will constantly be made. There will be weekly Lectures before all the Students on the Sciences and History. Religious worship every morning in Chapel, and Lecture every Sabbath afternoon, which the Students are required to attend.

Students completing the regular course of Study will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Ladies desiring to do so may omit the Greek, and on completing the rest of the Course will receive the degree of Mistress of English Literature.

There will be thorough Examinations at the close of each Session, at which time a public report of the standing and deportment of every Student will be made.
